

DAILY-EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.

ROSSER & McCARTHY,
Proprietors.

WEDNESDAY EVE., NOV. 3, 1896.

INDICATIONS: For Kentucky, fair weather; slightly cooler.

WHITE soap 5 cents, at Calhoun's.

Two of the moonshiners confined in the Louisville jail were married the other day.

Miss NELLIE L. BURRUS and Mr. Daniel Vantine, of Chester, will be married at 8 o'clock this evening.

The school children will look long forward to the 25th of this month. It will be their next holiday.

RHEUMATISM and similar diseases, caused by a low state of the system, are cured by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The Bellevue (Ky.) Water and Fuel Gas Light Company has been organized with a capital stock of $250,000.

WANTED.—20,000 live turkeys. Will pay the highest price. F. H. TRAXEL & Co.

THE Vienna Chair Factory, run by Mason, Ford & Co., in the Frankfort penitentiary, can't supply the demand for the goods it is turned out.

A SLIGHT COUGH is very often the fore-runner of serious lung trouble. A few doses of Balsam of Tolu and Glycerine of Tar will remedy the difficulty.

THE trial of J. M. Keller for killing Wm. Landrum in Cynthiana a few months ago resulted in a verdict of involuntary manslaughter. The penalty was fixed at a fine of $300.

A MAN was run over and killed by a train on the Kentucky Central the other day near Falmouth. His remains were terribly mangled. An envelope found in his pocket was addressed to Alex Roby McPherson, Kansas.

MARION TOLLS, of Clifton, has left at this office a sweet potato of the Bermuda variety that weighs ten pounds and is twenty-five inches in circumference at its largest part. It gets away with any potato we have seen this season.

A FINE constitution may be broken and ruined by simple neglect. Many bodily ills result from habitual constipation. There is no medicine equal to Ayer's Pills to correct this evil, and restore the system to natural, regular and healthy action.

THE Lexington Transcript is the authority for the statement that a pumpkin, which was perfectly sound outwardly, was opened the other day and found to be full of sprouting seeds and shoots of vines with green leaves growing on them.

THE railroad contractors have several squads of workmen engaged in grading the road between this city and the mouth of Lawrence Creek. The work is progressing satisfactorily, and the contractors are putting in their best efforts this fine weather.

THE citizens should give Hauck's band a big audience at their concert on Thursday night. This is one of the best musical organizations in the State, and our community should show their appreciation by giving them a crowded house. Tickets 50 cents. No extra charge for reserved seats.

EVERY day brings fresh testimony of the superiority of Ballegher's Diamond spectacles over any others. A lady who had not been able, with any others, to see the eye of a needle for years, sees perfectly with the Diamond. Others, after a few weeks, are able to discontinue the use of spectacles entirely. For sale by Ballegher.

THE Citizens' Coal Company has just received a fresh supply of coal. The following named gentlemen are the authorized agents of the company, and all orders left with them will receive prompt attention: James Redmond, Jr., West Second street; Hugh Shannon, corner Fourth and Plum; W. H. Wallingford, Fifth ward, opposite Hall's plow works, oddin. J. HAMILTON, Agent.

A COMMITTEE of Italians waited upon Kelly & Wishes, praying for work last Saturday, but this contracting firm preferred to employ home labor, and refused them. They learned their price, which was very low, but told the Italians that they did not desire to pay that much, in order to get rid of them. It is a blessing to the community. They would have made Rome howl in this vicinity about the first pay day.—Portsmouth Times.

The Coming Concert.

Among the vocal selections to be rendered at the concert Thursday night by Hauck's band is the solo, "Adelaide," by Beethoven. It will be sung by Miss Leila Wheeler for the first time in this city. The programme is an attractive one throughout. The tickets are going off with a rush, and those who want choice seats should secure them without delay.

TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORT.

The Nominee Mercilessly Knifed In His Home.

The Wood-Chopper's Boobie and the "Kids" and Other Disaffected Democrats do Dirty Work.

But Judge Wall has Probably Won by a Small Majority—Official Count Necessary to Decide the Question.

LATEST NEWS FROM ALL POINTS

Yesterday's contest was one of the fiercest ever fought in this county. The fight began with the opening of the polls in early morning, and the "battle of the ballots" was stubbornly contested at every point until the wind-up at 7 o'clock in the evening. The Republicans were thoroughly organized, and, being backed by an unlimited supply of "boobie," and reinforced by most of the "kids" and some other disaffected Democrats, they made a desperate effort to down the gallant nominee of the "untierred" in his home county. The "wood-chopper" centered his forces right here in Mason County, and made his fight here. Men who are acquainted with his methods know what that means. Under these circumstances and with some of their own members openly working against them, the Democracy of Mason fought one of the hardest fights yesterday that was ever fought in the county. The majority is not what we at first expected, but against such overwhelming odds, the Democracy of Mason or of any other county could not do more. One traitor in the camp can do more injury to the cause than a dozen enemies in an open, fair and square fight. The truth of this may be seen in the result of yesterday's contest.

Unofficial returns from this county give the following majorities:

For Wall—
Maysville No. 2	34
Dickenson	30
Minerva	40
Germantown	10
Fair	12
Maysville	7
Orangeburg	40
Chillicothe	30
Lewisburg	132
Total	468

Wall's majority in the county is 206.

The following is the latest from the other counties:

BRACKEN.

Wilson & McCormack telegraphs this morning from Augusta that Bracken had given Wall but 134 majority.

ROBERTSON.

A telephone message from Mt. Olivet places Wall's majority in Robertson at only 145.

LEWIS.

Judge Thomas carried Lewis by 580 majority.

GREENUP.

Democratic majority in Greenup over 100, according to latest from Paynter & Puttoff.

BOYD.

A dispatch from T. D. Marcus says Boyd gave Thomas less than 50 majority.

NICHOLAS.

A special from Green Kellar at 10 o'clock this morning says Nicholas gave Judge Wall 471 majority.

LAWRENCE.

Major Burkhett telegraphed this morning that Wall had 100 majority in Lawrence.

BATH.

A special from Bath at 9 o'clock this morning says that Wall's majority is 130 in that county.

FLEMING.

Nothing has been heard from Fleming since last night. Wall claims 100 majority.

CARTER.

A dispatch from Carter late last night says Thomas' majority will not be over 200 in that county.

ROWAN, JOHNSON AND MARTIN.

Nothing has been heard from these counties, and at the time we go to press it is not known who will represent the Ninth district in the Fifteenth Congress. Some Republicans concede Wall's election by 100 majority.

Latest From Other Points.

[Special to DAILY BULLETIN.]

CINCINNATI, Ohio, November 3.—10, a.m.—Republicans carry Ohio by 15,000. Elect 14 Congressmen, Democrats elect 7 Congressmen. Frank Hurd defeated.

New York City and State Democratic, Republicans gain one Congressman.

Democrats gain one Congressman in Missouri, but lose two in Virginia.

Democrats claim next; United States Senator from Indiana.

Elect Governor in Connecticut.

Almost carry Minnesota. Gain one Congressman in Nebraska.

Republicans gain several Congressmen, and next Congress will probably be Democratic by twenty majority.

Heavy vote against Carlisle, but it is thought he will pull through.

AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

At Flemingsburg, Allen Harrison quarreled with his brother, LeRoy, and struck him on the head, inflicting what is considered a fatal wound.

THE Lexington Street Railway Company has been sued for $25,000 by Miss Maria Lavin, who was seriously injured during the fair some weeks ago.

A. T. McDonald, of Flemingsburg, has assigned to Harry Andrews. Assets, small; liabilities, $8,000. He was the largest dry goods man in that county.

THE Portsmouth Times says L. G. Wilam, a bridge contractor on the railroad, was robbed the other evening of $115 while being ferried across the river in that vicinity. The thief was J. H. Brown, who has served a term in the Ohio and Kentucky penitentiaries.

Mrs. Bessie Orton will so n a appear at McAuley's theater in Louisville in a "Drawing room recital" under the patronage of the leading society ladies and gentlemen of that city. The tickets are being sold privately, and a large and fashionable audience is already insured.

—Exchange.

THE Sun of Winchester, Ky., says:

"Dr. H. M. Marsh, who, for the last two years has practiced his profession in Winchester, has sold his business, good will, etc., to Dr. S. M. Cooper, of Chattanoon, Tennessee.

Dr. Marsh has made an enviable reputation as a gentleman and a skillful and attentive physician. The people are loath to give him up. He will begin practice at Mayville about December 1. May good success attend him!"

Without Reference to Earthquakes.

The certainty of the success of Southern enterprises shown by the regularity which has characterized the grand monthly drawings of the Louisiana State Lottery—the 198th of which event will take place today on Tuesday, November 9 1886—without any reference to earthquakes or other interferences. Generals G. T. Beauregard, of La., and Jubal A. Early, of Va., will scatter some $255,500 all about the earth. For any information as to the date of the lottery, call at this office and pay for this notice.

SCARED BY A BIG GORILLA

A MUSEUM MONSTER AT LARGE IN LONG ISLAND WOODS.

The Residents About Setauket Afraid to Go Out at Night Because the Gorilla Infests the Neighborhood—He Kills Sheep and Has Fun With Everybody.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The villagers of Setauket, L. I., believe there is a gorilla lurking in the woods which infests their neighborhood, fearing for their lives in consequence. The farmers go armed to their work in the fields and do not venture out alone after dark. Their wives would as soon defy an army of mice than leave the shelter of their homes, and the children are afraid to go to pasture for the cows, and in some cases have to be escorted to and from school. The nutting season is at its height, but the children dare not venture near the woods. The colored natives many of whom go nightly to Stony Brook, two miles away, and return home making the trip in groups armed with axes and pitchforks.

Selah Strong is a farmer of Setauket who has a fine flock of Southdown sheep. Two days ago he saw the pick of the flock was gone and was dead in the ground with its throat horribly mangled. There were marks of claws in the flesh, and a spot of soft ground near by was an almost human footprint. The sheep was skinned and then it was found that its neck was broken. The captain ate heartily and that night he slept soundly. His physician began to hope for his complete recovery, but yesterday afternoon the patient suffered another shock of paralysis and was unable to move. He was carried into consciousness and apparent death, and the physician and relatives believe that he has finally passed away.

Quoted at the Chicago Stockyards.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—The stockyards were almost deserted, work being generally suspended on account of election.

The meeting of the union butchers was not prolific of any result, but the action taken in the appointment of a committee representing the eighteen branches of work in the packing houses to take charge of the strike. It was decided to adhere to the demand for a maintenance of the eight-hour day. It was agreed that each man should keep out of work one hour daily.

A man, he argued, might have broken the animal's back and left the footprint in the soft ground, but he could not have torn the flesh about the throat and left the claw marks.

He finally concluded that a man had started the job and that later a beast had finished it.

Two nights afterward Jacob Satterlee, who lives about a mile from Farmer Strong, heard a fearful bawling in his chicken house. He made a hasty investigation and found fresh tracks. The chickens had quieted down, but on the floor beneath the roost were three fat hens whose heads had been literally torn from their bodies. There was nothing to indicate who or what had been guilty of that abomination.

The "big booby," as the unknown trespasser came to be called, remained veiled in mystery for several days. A few evenings since, however, Farmer Jim Adkins met an experienced trapper who has satisfied his neighbor with the true character of the intruder. This is the secret, as told by himself to the reporter:

"I'd been up in the hills all day plowin', and about dusk I put the team to the wagon and started for home. My team got a little hung in one foot and I was drivin' easy.

We came down through the lane to the highway, and I stopped and closed up the bars after me. Then I climbed back into my wagon and was drivin' down the hill when I sighted the big white cat on the edge of the swamp with the high nobs. Billie pricked up his ears and took a scot' o' the air.

He did not seem to like it, and the mare was up to something pesky, too. I naturally stopped and got off, and the team went right along. I knew that we passed within forty feet of a big ape of some kind. It was just in the edge of the bush and stood on its hind feet, grasin' the limb of a saplin' with one hand. It made a move toward us, and I got out of the wagon and ran through his collar. The mare was frightened, too, and the Billie out of that Holler like they was colla. I wasn't exactly scared, but I looked around and saw the brute watchin' in the middle of the bushes. I would let the team out as quick as I could and the team had had two good looks at the animal. He stood high over five feet high. His legs was thin up to the knees and then they was quite full. His arms was the same, and he had hair back. He was hair all over, and I didn't see no tail."

This was the story which connected with the inhuman butchery of sheep and chickens frightened the quiet village folk. Then the news began to spread that the animal had been found, and a party of Sound fishermen was discovered who alleged that a few nights previous a Southern American trader had sought shelter in the harbor of Port Jefferson, three miles down the coast, and that they had a couple of good men with them. In the mean time, John French, a fisherman, had been recaptured. Nobody could be found to swear yesterday either in Setauket or Port Jefferson who said the fisherman who the fishermen were that had told the yarn.
